"Wanted—A printer." This sign adorns the State penitentiary of Ohio. Thereby hangs a tale. For many years past the Ohio penitentiary News was issued regularly from the State prison of the Buckeye Commonwealth. But now that publication is no more. The reason is that there are no printers confined in that institution and in consequence the prison journal, after a life of usefulness, though in a field unfortunate and lowly, has closed its final forms and rests in the great newspaper graveyard. No man is there to edit, or write copy, or set type. The newspaper men are on the outside.—Lexington Gazette.

Poultry and Eggs.

This is the month to clean up your poultry shipments as prices are usually high during the month. If you hold any turkeys back for Washington's birthday marked let them be young hen turkeys, dry pick and ship chickens and fowls especially old fat hens, they will do well this month. Live chickens will do well too. I advise heavy shipments of fresh eggs also. I am now getting liberal shipments from your section which are in most instances arriving in good condition and selling at top prices. All poultry markets have been in a fluctuating condition since Christmas owing to the unusual warm weather but we certainly look for colder weather and better general conditions this month. Let your shipments of eggs and live and dressed poultry come. All business entrusted to me will have my personal attention, all inquiries promply answered. Remember my references previously given.

Yours to serve.

I was so weak from an attack of diarrhoea that I could scarcely attend to my duties, when I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Andy Price for Congress.

The Fayette Sun is boosting the Hon. Andrew Price, of this county, for the Democratic nomination for Congress. We dislike to butt in on other people's affairs, for we have enough to do to attend our own. Andy would make a good congressman and we should like very much to see him get the nomination, as it would bring Marlinton into the limelight, but with Joe Gaines as his opponent it would be rather an empty honor.
